BUILDING THE SELF-MANAGED TEAM
Systems, Service and Leadership for the 21st Century Practice

When you own a practice, you quickly discover that critical skill gaps inevitably cause some of the biggest headaches in every practice:

- Communication skill gaps contribute to emotionally charged situations and create difficult people—whether they are patients or team members.
- Leadership skill gaps contribute to employee problems like chronic lateness, underperformance, constant complaining, persistent negativity, and failure to comply.
- Business system gaps cause multiple problems with scheduling, new patient acquisition and patient retention, financial and performance monitoring.
- Customer service skill gaps can compound a decade-long trend of declining dental practice revenues in the era of instant social media and public review sites.

A clear, structured, fail-safe approach to practice management skills can cure staffing headaches, create a healthy work environment, re-energize the team, and reap huge benefits. Learn proven ways to integrate critical systems, increase revenues, improve patient satisfaction and retention, boost online and word-of-mouth referrals, maximize morale, and minimize miscommunication risks.

Learning Objectives

- Pinpoint the skills and essential qualities of an effective doctor-leader
- Understand critical communication skills for leadership in the 21st century
- Identify ways your dental team can communicate care and warmth to your patients
- Define the elements of an exceptional dental team
- Recognize the minimal components of a first-class professional atmosphere
- Establish strategies for dealing with difficult people, both patients and employees
- Explore patient-centered operational systems which enhance practice profitability and productivity
- Learn proven ways to develop and implement an employee handbook

MIX ‘N MATCH components of this lecture with the following to create your customized presentation!

Scheduling for Success
Work Smarter, Not Harder

Did you know that the #1 reason a patient refers a practice is because they run on schedule? Sandy teaches dental teams how to exceed scheduling goals and capture 20-30% more production everyday. In addition, attendees will learn how to handle no-shows, late arrivers and canceled appointments.

Dealing with Difficult People in a Professional Setting
Don’t Let it Ruin Your Day

All dental practices have difficult patients, but dealt with correctly they can turn into your best referrer. This presentation will teach you how to manage difficult patients in your practice, including providing scripts and verbal tools for the team to implement in the practice.

Suggested Attendees: Dentists, Office Managers, Coordinators, Full Team

OSHA IN THE DENTAL OFFICE

Safety Doesn’t Happen by Accident!

As of August 1, 2016, OSHA fines for dental offices increased from $7,000 to $12,471 per violation and that repeated violation fines increased from $70,000 to $124,709 per violation? OSHA is serious about their regulations.

It only takes one phone call from an unhappy employee or patient to put your business at risk. Sandy utilizes adult learning techniques to encourage interactivity and enhance the learning of this potentially dry subject matter. Attendees enjoy participating in “OSHA Family Feud” and other activities which help solidify the learning. This presentation will provide your dental team with everything they need to know about OSHA and how to ensure your practice stays compliant.

Learning Objectives

- Clarify how OSHA impacts a dental practice
- Learn what obligations are necessary to meet the pathogen and hazard communication standards
- Discover what OSHA requires from both the practice and the employees
- Understand training requirements: the what, when, how and who for achieving compliance
- Discuss post-exposure protocol
- Explore procedures for controlling contamination and infection in the dental practice

HIPAA IN THE DENTAL OFFICE

To Tell, Or Not To Tell, That Is Our Question!

In 2011, one small practice had a USB “stick” stolen; it contained some of their patients’ Protected Health Information. At the end of 2013, the department Health and Human Services announced a $150,000 settlement of the case. HIPAA is no joking matter and carries painful penalties if you ignore it.

Any patient can submit a complaint on the U.S. Department of Health and Human Resources website which can lead to fines and even imprisonment. Attendees enjoy Sandy’s interactive presentations which bring humor and fun to this potentially dry subject matter, while solidifying the learning. Sandy provides dental teams with the knowledge and tools to achieve and remain HIPAA compliant.

Learning Objectives

- Clarify how HIPAA impacts a dental practice
- Learn practice obligations for the Privacy and Security Act and the Breach Notification Rule
- Understand how to protect your PHI, yourself and your employees
- Discuss how to properly respond to a HIPAA complaint
- Explore the interaction between technology and HIPAA
- Identify how to organize, train and execute HIPAA requirements
